

PSW PRECEPTOR DEVELOPMENT SERIES

Introduction to the Pharmacy Society of Wisconsin Preceptor Development Series

The Pharmacy Society of Wisconsin (PSW) is excited to introduce a comprehensive Preceptor Development Series tailored for the unique needs of preceptors of pharmacy students, pharmacy technician program students, Postgraduate Year 1 (PGY1) and Postgraduate Year 2 (PGY2) pharmacist residency programs. This series, curated with a selection of journal articles, is designed to equip preceptors with essential skills and knowledge, enhancing their effectiveness and fostering the growth of our learners.

What's Included:

The PSW Preceptor Development Series addresses several key challenges faced by student precepting program leaders, residency program coordinators, and residency program directors, offering significant benefits:

- 1. Skill Enhancement for Preceptors: This series includes a variety of journal articles that cover critical competencies for preceptors, such as mentorship, evaluation techniques, feedback delivery, and professional development. By engaging with these resources, preceptors can refine their teaching methodologies and improve their ability to guide residents effectively.
- 2. Reduction of Administrative Burden: One of the primary goals of this series is to alleviate the administrative workload of residency program directors. By providing structured and high-quality educational materials, the series ensures that preceptors receive consistent and comprehensive training without the need for directors to develop these resources independently.
- 3. Alignment with Program Standards: Each package in the series is meticulously aligned with residency program accreditation standards. By adhering to these guidelines, we ensure that the development of our preceptors supports the overall goals of residency programs and meets the rigorous standards of ongoing preceptor development that can be a common area of concern for residency programs. This alignment not only enhances the quality of preceptorship but also ensures compliance with accreditation requirements.
